PETER ANDERSON IS STRUCK AND KILLED BY ST. PAUL TRAIN

Was Killed by Chicago and Milwaukee Train at an Early Hour—Employee of Sugar Beet Factory.

Sometime between the hours of midnight and 1:30 this morning, Peter Anderson of Minneapolis, an employee of the Sugar Beet factory in this city, was struck by a Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul train and instantly killed at a point about 300 feet east of the tower, located on McKee boulevard, and the body was discovered at 6:30 this morning by the third track man at the tower, Harris, who was in the act of taking down his signal lights on the semaphores. The police were notified of the gruesome discovery and the body was removed to the undertaker's room of Nelson's. Inquiry and letters in the dead man's pockets established his identity and employment and the fact that his death was accidental. Anderson has been here but a short time and was boarding at Mrs. Howard's, a widow residing at 1044 Jerome avenue. Friday, Anderson received twenty-seven dollars in wages at the beet factory and after paying his board went down town. He was a man that was addicted to the use of strong drink and about twelve o'clock last night came home in company of one of the other boarders, who went to bed and left him sitting on the porch in a bad state of intoxication. It is thought that Anderson wandered over to the tracks and was struck by the fast stock freight, No. 166, which passes the tower at 1:10 every morning. As the body was not discovered until nearly six this morning, he was not only run over by 166, but also by an extra freight which passed the tower at about 5:15. As the time was so short between the passing of the last mentioned train and the finding of the corpse, that had he been killed by this train the body would have been warm when found, but it was cold, and it is probable Anderson met his death by being struck by No. 166. Anderson was thirty-five years of age and has a brother in the fruit business who lives at 1913 3rd street in Minneapolis. At the undertaker's the body was searched and two letters were found, one from his wife in Minneapolis, and the other from his father who resides at the same place. In the letter from his wife, Anderson was cautioned to stick to his job. Chief of Police Appleby immediately wired Anderson's father and it is thought that the body will be shipped to that place for burial. The corpse was badly mutilated, one hand and one foot being completely severed from the body, besides numerous severe bruises about the head and body. It was found lying between the rails and parallel with the track.

BIG HATFIELD DAM WAS BURST TODAY

MONSTER PROJECT BACKING HUGE RESERVOIR, LAKE ARBUTUS, GAVE WAY WHEN BLACK RIVER LEVEE BURST.

NO LIVES WERE LOST

Warnings Had Been Issued to People But Property Loss Will Reach Into Millions—Black River Falls Threatened. (BY UNITED PRESS.) La Crosse, Wis., Oct. 6.—The levee protecting the shore of Black River at the west end of the Delta dam, located five miles above Hatfield, gave way at 4 o'clock this morning, sending a flood against the big dam at Hatfield, which at 10 o'clock had torn its way past the west side of the dam. It is believed at Black River Falls that the crest of the flood will reach there by noon today and it is expected that the business section will be inundated. The Hatfield dam is thirty feet high and dams Lake Arbatus, a great reservoir. Three hundred men worked yesterday and last night in attempting to strengthen the Delta levee and prevent a flood, but the work was of no avail. Warning has been given and no loss of life is expected, but the property loss may reach millions. Shortly After Ten. It is reported that the Hatfield dam went out at 10:10. Telephone connection with Black River Falls, ten miles below, were cut off at 11:45 this noon. Telephone companies notified their central offices at North Bond that they were leaving on account of water. As early as nine o'clock people were moving out of the valley at Black River Falls and other points. Town below Hatfield, which are flooded, are: Halcyon, Wright, Black River Falls, Irving, Melrose, Onalaska, and North La Crosse. There is now no telephone connection further than North La Crosse. Dark Report. That the dam went out as reported at 10:10, is refuted by a message from E. G. Boynton, a director of the water company which owns the dam, who said he believes the dam will hold. Flooding houses are being swept against each other and have torn out a span of the wagon bridge at Black River Falls just before telephone communication was cut off this morning. Several Lives Lost? This strengthens the theory that several lives may have been lost above that place. The Wisconsin River. Wausau, Wis., Oct. 6.—The Wisconsin river here at 1:30 a. m. has risen seven feet, the record in its history. Floods are feared although every precaution is being taken.

James W. Martin of Gotham, Wis., a recent of the University of Wisconsin, and one of the most extensive livestock breeders in the country, will retire from the business but will continue to live on his farm. He is disposing his herd of Red Poll cattle, the product of twenty-five years of breeding, and acknowledged to be the greatest collection of Red Polls in the country.

IMPERIAL NUBUCK THE NEW FASHION

Women of Exacting Tastes Delighted With New Departure in Leather Effect Shown by D. J. Luby & Co.

Nothing that has been shown in years has taken hold quite so strong in popular fancy as the prominent style feature in women's shoes, the Imperial Nubuck effect.

The delicate color and shade of Nubuck cannot be described so as to give any idea of the exquisite mellowness of the leather.

Women of the most exacting tastes will delight in the delicate harmony of this new leather which harmonizes perfectly with any gown.

It is delightfully soft in texture and finish. Extremely distinguished in appearance without a suspicion of artificialness.

Fashioned in either white, tan, brown or black. A special dressing in made which cleans the shoes with the utmost ease and neatness, at the same time preserving the original shade.

One consignment has been disposed of at the Luby store. Another was received this morning. Owing to the fact that they are so highly demanded and the prices, $4.00, $4.50 and $5.00, are so popular, it is reasonable to suppose that they won't last very long.

Also the eastern end of the Panama canal is further west than the western end. It sounds like a "bull," to be sure, but for all that it is a fact.

WILSON IS SCORED BY STATE BAPTISTS FOR RECENT ACTION

CONVENTION ADOPTS RESOLUTION REQUESTING TAFT ASK SECRETARY TO CAN- CEL ENGAGEMENT AT BREWERS' CON- GRESS.

UNIFORM DIVORCE LAW

Is Also Favored in Thirteen Resolutions Passed—Action on Matters of Church Policy Also Taken.

Secretary James Wilson of the United States Department of Agriculture is severely taken to task by the Wisconsin State Baptists in convention here in one of the resolutions passed by the delegates last evening, for his action in accepting the honorary presidency of the International Congress of Brewers.

In the words of the resolution his action is taken as "tacitly giving the impression that the government of the United States endorses the liquor traffic." Such action is "to be deplored" and it was voted that the President Taft be requested to officially instruct Wilson to cancel the engagement.

Other matters of national import were passed upon in the resolutions of the convention passed last night. Among other things the uniform divorce law for the nation was advocated and the Sunday observance manifested in the closing of the postoffice and other places of business on the Sabbath, was heartily commended. The stamp of approval was also placed on the arbitration and peace treaties which are being negotiated with England and France and their prompt ratification is urged.

In the matter of church affairs the Free Will Baptists are welcomed into the fold of the denomination in this state; the "Denominational Objective" is endorsed as the goal of the Baptist activities; the masculine members of the church are urged to further interest themselves in the "religious forward movement"; further organization for missionary development is endorsed; and the local First Baptist church is heartily thanked for courtesies accorded the convention. The text of the resolutions is given in full as follows:

The committee on resolutions begs to present the following report for the consideration of the convention:

Thank Local Church.

I. We desire to express our gratitude to the entertaining church and to its pastor, Rev. J. C. Hazen, for their gracious hospitality in ministering to the comfort, the need, of the delegates in the convention; to those who have made the public sessions delightful by their music; to the newspaper of the city, the Gazette and the Recorder, for their generous treatment of the convention and to the Methodist Episcopal and Congregational churches for the fraternal courtesy in tendering the use of their respective church buildings for the accommodation of the convention.

Denominational Objective.

II. Resolved that we most heartily endorse "Denominational Objective" as the goal of our activities, and recommend that every church in the state seek to make this high ideal a reality. We believe that this will create a church consciousness that will make for increasing efficiency.

Missionary Development.

III. Few forward steps in the missionary development of our denomination within the state have more prophetic significance than the proposed missionary bureau and collecting agency.

Therefore, be it resolved, that we highly recommend the establishment of such a bureau and the employment of a missionary expert who shall devote his mind and heart to the development of the churches in missionary knowledge and zeal.

Free Will Brethren.

IV. Two years ago and last year a resolution was adopted by this convention extending to our Free Will Baptist brethren a hearty invitation to hold their annual meeting in 1911 at the same place and time as that of our state convention. Today we have done more than that—we have entered into full fellowship and cooperation. Upon our state board of managers, our Free Will brethren sit and hold an honored and important place on our committees and programs.

Therefore, be it resolved that the Free Will brethren and rejoice in the completion of the long desired federation.

Educational Progress.

V. We rejoice in the educational progress made by our denomination as represented in the successful year enjoyed by our Wayland Academy and recommend its still deeper interest in our schools by the pastors and churches of the state.

Literature Endorsed.

VI. Resolved that we make an effort to increase the subscribers and readers of the "Standard" and "Mission" and other literature indispensable to the intelligent effort for the building of the church and the progress of the Kingdom of God.

Resolved that we further strengthen our endorsement of a "Standard Day" on December 10 and pledge ourselves to observe the day and to work for large results.

Pastoral Exchange.

VII. Resolved that the pastors and churches of the state again co-operate in plans of evangelism through pastoral exchange, believing that this will bring blessed results to the churches and pastors.

Resolved that we commend the plan of a schedule for Associational gathering, thereby enabling our general workers to save expenses in travel and to be present at the various association centers.

Urging Men in Work.

VIII. Moving in the great potentialities in the masculine members of our church constituency now dormant in so large a degree that it is recommended that we present the claims of Christ upon the men of our churches; and urge their cooperation in the "Men and Religion Forward Movement" for the efficiency of the church.

the promotion of evangelism, social service and the coming of the Kingdom.

For Aged Ministers.

IX. The Northern Baptist Convention having fostered the movement to create a national fund to provide for aged ministers and their wives—the resolution that in view of the exigency arising from the offer of $200,000, to create such a fund, that we bring to the attention of the pastors the urgent appeal of the fund and urge the attention of the churches to this gracious effort.

Wilson Is Scored.

X. It would hardly seem creditable in this day of rising interest in social progress, the government of the United States would give its endorsement to the damning liquor traffic. In view of the acceptance of the Secretary of the Department of Agriculture, Hon. James Wilson, of the honorary presidency of the International Congress of Brewers thereby tacitly giving the impression that the government of the United States endorses the liquor traffic;

Therefore be it resolved that we emphatically deplore the action of the Secretary of the Department of Agriculture in accepting the invitation, and request that the almost official, that our President, Mr. Taft, officially instruct Secretary Wilson to cancel the engagement.

It further resolved that copies of this resolution be sent to the Secretary of State Knox and to the President of the United States.

Uniform Divorce Laws.

XI. In view of the growing alarm now becoming more generally felt regarding the divorce mania and the increasing perils to the homes of the state and nation;

Be it resolved that we add our voices of commendation to the movement to secure uniform divorce laws throughout the nation, and favor the enactment of laws to restrict the granting of divorce.

Sunday Observance.

XII. God gave great gifts of greater value to men than the day of rest, the Sabbath. We are grateful to God that during the past year 30,000 postoffice employees have been given a day of rest; that over 3,000 merchants and clerks in Milwaukee alone have secured a rest day;

Be it resolved that we urge all people to encourage the extension of the number of people released from labor on Sunday;

Be it further resolved that we strongly deplore the Wisconsin State Fair during the day of rest, and that the Sunday, and the desecration of the day as a day of sport and pleasure—be a subversion to public morals.

Commend Peace Treaties.

XIII. The Wisconsin Baptist State Convention in annual session at Janesville expresses its hearty approval of the action of President Taft in negotiating treaties of arbitration with foreign nations, and urges prompt satisfaction of the treaties with England and France now before the Senate of the United States, and respectfully beseech the earnest co-operation and efforts of the Senators from Wisconsin.

The funeral will take place at his late residence, 210 North Third street, Sunday morning, at 9:30 o'clock, and the remains will be taken to Monroe at 10:30 for interment.

August Teubert.

August Teubert passed away at 6:30 o'clock this morning at his home, 1114 Third street. The cause of his death was a lingering illness with which he had suffered for four years. The deceased was born in Germany, February 10, 1838, and emigrated to the United States in 1854, settling at Edgerton. He removed to this city four months ago. Surviving him are his wife and three sons, Charles, Albert and Herman.

Funeral services for the deceased will be held at the home, Sunday morning at 10 o'clock, Rev. Fuchs being the officiating pastor. The remains will be taken to Edgerton on the 10:35 train and interment will be made in the family lot in the Pleasant cemetery.

Stewart, 30 Madison street. The funeral service was read by Rev. T. D. Williams, and the remains were taken to Oak Hill cemetery for interment.

The deceased was born in New York state, and removed with his parents to the town of Center while a boy. He went to North Dakota thirty-two years ago, and suffered the excruciating and hardships of an early pioneer and homestead life. He has made his home there for the time being. The illness which caused his death was of short duration, but five days. Surviving him are his wife, five daughters, three sons, and three daughters. All the brothers, but one, were able to attend the funeral.

BALD HEADS NOT WANTED

Baldness is too Generally Considered

A Sign of Advanced Age

A bald-headed person does not have an equal chance with one blessed with a healthy head of hair, because baldness is too generally accepted as an indication of age. Many large corporations have established an age limit, and refuse to take men over 35 years of age as new employees.

Probably 65% of bald-headed people may regain a full head of healthy hair if they will follow our advice and accept our offer. We have a remedy that is a positively guaranteed to grow hair on any bald, unless the roots of the hair are entirely dead, their follicles closed, and the scalp has become glazed and shiny. We want people to try this remedy at our risk, with the distinct understanding that unless it does exactly what we claim it will, and give satisfaction in every respect, we shall make no charge for the remedy used during the trial.

We know exactly what we are talking about, and with this offer back of our statements no one should scoff, doubt our word, or hesitate to put our remedy to an actual test.

We met every one in Janesville who is suffering from any scalp or hair trouble, dandruff, falling hair, or baldness to try our "23" Hair Tonic. We want them to use it regularly—say until three bottles have been used—and if it does not eradicate dandruff, cleanse and refresh the scalp, tighten the hair in its roots, and grow new hair, we will return every cent paid us for the remedy for the mere asking. There is no formality expected, and we exact no obligation from the user whatever.

We are established right here in Janesville, and make this offer with a full understanding that our business success entirely depends upon the merit of our treatment, we accord our customers, and we would not dare make the above offer unless we were positively certain that we could substantiate it in every particular. Remember, you can obtain Rexall Remedies in this community only at our store—The Rexall Store, The Smith Drug Co., 14 West Milwaukee St., Janesville, Wis.

Philadelphia, Pa.—"I am ready for game with the Giants. I am ready for McGraw."

The speaker was Cornelius McGillicuddy, manager of the Athletics, four-times American league champions, present holders of the world's championship.

"This is the greatest year of my life," said manager Mack. "I figured that the Athletics would win out in the since they beat us in 1905, to meet them in another series. My ambition is about to be realized."

Charley Faust, the official Giant Mascot.

New York City.—Charley Faust, the official Giant mascot, is the king pin in the McGraw machine. If the superstitious players are to be credited, McGraw is himself authority for the statement and says the continued good luck of the ball team is due to the tall Kansas farmer whom a fortune teller claimed to send him. "The story is a most unique one in base-balldom. It was during the first session in St. Louis between the Giants and the western team that Faust one day walked into the visitor's club house and asked for Manager McGraw.
When the head of the New Yorkers was pointed out to him he said, "I am here." "I see you are!" said Mc-Graw, "but who are you, who sent you and what do you want?" "You

CAPTAIN KORST BACK IN HIGH SCHOOL TEAM

Mass Meeting to be Held Tonight to Find How Many Players Can Qualify for Game Saturday.

Captain Korst has returned to his old position as half back on the High School eleven and as a result the hopes of the team have been greatly raised. This will cause a shift in the line-up and a strengthening of that part of the team. One game has been played and won without Korst, but with him, the team hopes to be able to put up a great deal better game at Whitewater Saturday.

Owing to the fact that Moore and Davison are laid up with injuries, that Korst has not been well, and that several of the men are threatened with disqualification, it is very doubtful now whether the Whitewater game will come off tomorrow as planned. At present only eleven men can be counted on and Coach McMurray does not care to enter into the game with Whitewater which will be a hard one, without more than eleven men.

This evening after school a mass meeting was held in the interests of the team and the exact situation can then be determined. Football spirit is running high in the city and it would be a misfortune to cancel the game for tomorrow.

Next Saturday a Belmont game is scheduled with the High School of that city, and it is hoped that the team will not only be able to qualify at that time, but will be in good condition with all the old men back in their places.

China's Exports of Tin.

Exports of tin from China, in which the United States is materially interested, are likely to be largely increased, says a consular report. Practically all the tin mines of the country are in Yunnan province, the product being exported almost entirely through Hong-Kong.

WEATHER BUREAU
WILLIS L. MOORE, Chief.

WEATHER CONDITIONS.
The atmospheric disturbance that was central over the Plateau region yesterday has moved rapidly northward across the Rockies and the Plains, and is now passing over Wisconsin and the upper Lake region. It has caused warmer weather, general rains and high winds in the north Central states. The rainfall was unusually heavy in central Wisconsin.

Chinese Rice Paper.
Chinese rice paper has no rice in its composition. The curiously brittle, pure white material used for the marvelous drawings of Chinese artists is manufactured from the pith of a tree peculiar to Formosa. The first paper was not made of raw cotton, nor by the Chinese. It was made in Arabia more than ten centuries ago, and the Crusaders brought the industry to Europe, where the first paper manufactory was established in the last years of the thirteenth century.

Would Teach Parenthood.
Mrs. Frederick Schott, president of the National Congress of Mothers, is working to get a national extension plan for the education of Americans in parenthood. It is proposed to have the headquarters in Washington with branches in each state in the Union.
Mrs. Schott has been at the head of many movements for the uplifting of the child, having compiled laws for every state in the Union governing dependent and delinquent children.

Preferred the Darkness.
Complaints have been pouring in upon the gas committee of Strabane, Ireland, because of the fact that the street lamps have been turned out in the evenings. It was discovered that children often turned out the lamps in the town and this was stopped, but those in the roads round the town continued to be extinguished. At last the clerk of the gas works has solved the matter. It is the work of courting couples, who find the darkness more romantic than gas light.

FREE-HAND ADVICE.

It's them that has nothing to worry about.

That tells us "don't worry."

It's them that has nothing to hurry about.

That tells us "don't hurry."

It's them that don't need to be spend-in' a cent.

That tells us "don't spend it."

It's them that don't care who'd be lendin' a cent.

That tells us "don't lend it."

The Do it Now sign always swings on the wall.

Of them that don't do it—Advice, an' suggestions, an' things on the wall.

There ain't nothin' to it!

—Chicago Post.

More truth than poetry is contained in this sentiment, for almost any kind of a brain is capable of thinking what other people ought to do, and a very ordinary mind grasps the thought and gives it expression.

The trouble with free-handed advice is that it inclines to partake of the spirit of meddling. The country just now is surfeited with advisers of this class, and all kinds of business suffers in consequence.

HONESTY AND REAL ESTATE.

"Candid" in advertisements, like anything else, can be satirized, as it was successfully in a recent cartoon which showed a hillside adorned with such signs as: "Scalping. It really doesn't hurt the hair, but it smells nice." "The 'Lucy' brand costs more but we can get it." "Scourin' is a pretty good cleaning soap for the money. You can't expect much for five cents."

"The Middlebrook Savings Bank pays five and one-half per cent on deposits. Not very safe, but you may like to take a chance." Frankness in advertising is not a bad thing; we could no more revert to exaggerations as extreme as those of old-school advertising than the stage could return to melodrama as ranting as it once enjoyed. Some of the most harmful misrepresentations and exaggerations nowadays are not deliberate and malicious, but come from overenthusiastic "town boosters."

"If this situation the land shark greatly profits. He uses local pride in some states as his shield against investigation; and sometimes zealous commercial clubs and boards of trade thus become his unwary accomplices.

One of our correspondents believes that nonresident investors should be protected by investigating committees from state and city real estate exchanges. The advertiser who in his literature or advertisements or letters would dare to refer the customer to this committee would be trusted. "If this means the fraudulent companies could not be endorsed and could not use the real estate exchange for furthering their propositions. At the same time it could be made known right and left that without such endorsement the advertising companies would be open for investigation." The men who advertise real estate have the same reason as the managers of other lines of business to fall in with the modern business tendency toward candor.

This editorial paragraph is from Collier's Weekly. It suggests the difference between the honest, enthusiastic advertiser, and the unprincipled faker who, through misrepresentation promotes successfully worthless schemes.

For many years the Louisiana Lottery was an outlet for investors whose ambition led them to take long chances on prizes, and while many patrons were disappointed, they always had the satisfaction of knowing just how they were swindled, and were usually ready to try it again.

When the government put the lottery out of business, it did not reduce the number of suckers, who are always ready to speculate, and so the lottery has been succeeded by all sorts of devices to accommodate this class of investors.

The government itself runs a land lottery, every now and then, which the press of the country advertises gratuitously, and in spite of the fact that only about one ticket-holder in one hundred secures a prize, the mania for speculation induces an army of people to make a trip across the continent, and take chances.

The report of the Northern Pacific road, recently published, shows a shrinkage of $4,000,000 in passenger receipts over last year, and the shortage is explained by the fact that the Spokane land drawing in 1910 added largely to the receipts.

Florida, Texas, and other southern states, have caught the spirit, and millions of acres of worthless land have been sold in garden patch lots, to eager investors, waiting for an opportunity to be parted from their money.

NEW YORK CITY TAXES.

The New York City assessment list for 1912 is seven and one-half billion dollars, an increase of $150,000,000 over 1911. The increase is due largely to the fact that 5,000 new buildings have been erected, and expensive railway terminals completed.

The Waldorf-Astoria is assessed at $14,450,000, and is the most costly hotel building in the city. The Pennsylvania railroad terminal has a taxable valuation placed at $16,500,000, while the New York Central property will pay on an assessment of about $31,000,000.

Among the increases in the personal tax list Andrew Carnegie is raised from $5,000,000 to $10,000,000 and Mrs. Russell Sage is increased in a like amount. John O. Rockefeller is jumped from $2,500,000 to $5,000,000, and his son goes from $250,000 to $500,000. John Jacob Astor has agreed to pay on $800,000 as against $100,000 last year. Charles G. Gates, who was assessed for $50,000, is on the list for $250,000. J. P. Morgan, who has paid on $400,000, has been assessed on $800,000; Joseph Pulitzer has been hoisted from $500,000 to $1,000,000; William Vanderbilt from $1,000,000 to $2,000,000; C. M. Schwab from $250,000 to $500,000; Jacob H. Schiff from $200,000 to $400,000; William Rockefeller from $300,000 to $600,000, and Luther Kountze from $25,000 to $200,000.

The final destination of a political dollar is a difficult thing to locate, and the various channels of its passage enroute, are more difficult to trace. These two facts are impressed on the minds of the congressional committee now engaged in efforts to account for $107,000 which passed out of Senator Stephenson's possession in the primary campaign. If these gentlemen were familiar with the beauties of the primary law, they would simply be surprised that "Uncle Ike" got off so cheap.

The notion prevails, to some extent, that the extra assessment ordered includes only the manufacturers. This is not the case. The object is a more equitable distribution, and all classes of property will share in the investigation, and also in the expense incurred. The time consumed, including the work of the Board of Review, will probably be about three months. The precedent established in Janesville will doubtless inspire other cities to follow suit. Any disgruntled taxpayer can set the ball rolling and most any town can find at least one of this class. Great is reform.

The central figure at the national capitol, just now, is Attorney General Wickoreham, and through his activities the season of roost, which the country usually enjoys when congress is not in session, is transformed into an era of uncertainty, especially on the part of corporations. The attorney general is clothed with unlimited authority, and the president has said that he could not interfere with him, if so disposed. The legal mind is in control, and business is of secondary consideration.

While Turkey has a strong army, well equipped for service, the nation is sadly lacking in funds. With a treasury balance of less than $5,000,000 and no credit abroad, her chances for success are nil, and unless backed by some other country, the war will be of short duration. In the final settlement there may be less Turkey than when the disturbance broke out.

The St. Louis banks furnish the bulk of money used in handling the cotton crop. They are now distributing among half a dozen cotton growing states about $1,000,000 a day, to be used for this purpose. The crop for 1911-12 is estimated at 15,000,000 bales.

It is an old saying that "there is nothing sure in this world but death and taxes." The former often surprises without warning, but the latter is more considerate, and if we survive the corporation, the regular tax, and the extra assessment, the income spectra is still in reserve.

WAGNER BEATEN.

Some folks upon it, Wagner date, But I don't like the stuff he wrote. Although his music is the rage Upon the operatic stage, I have heard old Thannhauser sing, Also the Götterdämmerung. They may be great and all of that, But I can't tell just where they're at: They drag along without a time; For me they can't get through too soon.

To me, his music, I confess Remembers just a jumbled mess.

The Wagner stuff cannot commence With opera as we have on stage. Our operas start about midnight And last right through till broad day light.

We have our prima donnas and A tenor who is simply grand; Caruso never tried to get The note that he can reach you bet.

Our mezzo and our baritone Can sing until they jar your bones. Their music has the Wagner kind Backed off the pavement to my mind.

Of course sometimes they're jealous, too, And fight like prima donnas do, And when they cross each other's path They open veins of their wrath.

And talk about each other in A manner that seems like a sin. But still their music rings quite true Compared with some I've listened to Upon the grand operatic stage.

Where screeching seems to be the rage, Cat operas may not be "grand" But there's the kind I understand.

FROM THE HICKYVILLE CLARION

Amurrah "Hick," our gentlemanly and congenial territorial artist, lent his razor to Abiliah Weeks of the Hotel Hickyville for to cut some hair for some sandwiches and a travolva drummer who dropped into the barber shop to get shaved had to wait ten minutes while Am raved up to the hilt and got it.

Miss Daisy Frink made some cooking school doughnuts the other day and Grandpa Frink is carrying one in his pocket to scratch matches on.

Ezra Hany kid, remember back a ways, he says he has attended pretty much every inauguration except Washington's and he wouldn't have missed that only he was in jail at Tombstone, Ariz., at the time for stealing a photograph. The only thing that lends any truth to the story is that Uncle Ez says he was in jail.

Miss Anastasia Hick is savin' up her money which she gets as second cook at the Hotel Hickyville for the purpose of goin' back into her regular profession, which is writin' poetry for the magazines. When she sold her ten acres some years ago she was able to stay in the poetry business for several months.

Miss Lattie Purdy, the proprietor of the millinery emporium, has got a new hat which has got everything on it excepting a pollen. Hank Frisk says he can't smoke a pipe because his tongue ain't sore and William Tibbits says he can't smoke one because his wife gets sore. Mr. and Mrs. Calo Froutier just been dabblin' for some time whether to name the baby Mary or Imogene, but when it arrived they had to compromise on Reginald.

Deacon Jenkins' land is so hard and adamant that when he does his spring plantin' he has to hire an expert auto cracker to come and drill holes for the seed. Elder Haskins is mad clear through. He sold twelve dozen state eggs to a fellow down to the city and when he got home he found the fellow had paid him with a bogus ten dollar bill.

Every time the station agent gets tired of rasslin' trunks he frowns at track with soft soap so the trains can't stop.

BEATRICE SPAREBIRD'S COLUMN.

Anxious wife—My "advice to the lovers" does not apply to married couples and you must look elsewhere for information as to how you can make your husband stop dumping his pipe ashes on the dining room table.

Mable—Of course you may encourage the advances of the young man in the dress suit you saw at the party, in a mild way, unless he was one of the waiters. If he is a waiter don't be contented with mild encouragement, but grab him, as he probably has more money than any of the guests.

Gerrude—I don't think that any man who invites you to a theatre party and then takes you in a moving picture show instead will make a very comfortable husband, as in later years he may ask you where that mullin dress is he bought you five years before.

Marguerite—No, I don't think you can keep a husband on your salary and afford him all the luxuries he has been accustomed to and he might go home to his father.

Hysmith—You ask me how to get rid of your old hat frames, fudge this and condensed soup cans. My advice is to keep an ostrich.

HELPFUL HOUSEHOLD HINTS.

How to make better blancet: Mix one pint of flour and shortening with one pint of dynamite. Place whole in oven. Then beat it.

How to remove berry stain from white lawn dress: Take the material containing the stain and stretch it carefully around the edges of the stain, removing the piece thus cut out. The berry stain will never appear again in the same spot.

PRESS COMMENT.

It Never Rains, etc.

Evening Wisconsin: The wet weather of the fall is nature's compensation for the drought of the early summer. But there may be too much of a good thing. Farmers in the Southern half of Wisconsin are hoping now for a let-up in the rain, to save the potatoes from rotting in the ground.

Vocabulary Still Useful.

Macine, News: The automobile is supplementing the mule in the army. But at least the army mule driver will be able to make the necessary remarks to the motor when it refuses to run.

Looks That Way Now.

Chicago News: Papa and mamma who love their little colosso boys will hope earnestly that the ground will remain as mushy as an early love affair until the football season ends.

Going Down!

Milwaukee Free Press: The tendency to newspaper exaggeration is seen in the happily diminishing list of the dead in the Austin, Tex., flood.

Taft Ellipsoid.

Oshkosh Northwestern: The past week has developed so much other news of importance and general interest that the papers are rather neglecting the Taft trip in the west.

THAT CLINGING REST HABIT

Hard to Break, but It Can Be Done, Says the Amiable Mr. Glimmerman.

"For that don't feel like work feeling, with which," said Mr. Glimmerman, "I fancy we are all of us more or less likely to be afflicted, I would in some cases prescribe rest, though in most cases no doubt the proper prescription would be exertion."

"The trouble with the rest cure is that it is like taking opiates; the more you take the more you want. The rest habit is easy to acquire and hard to break."

"The habit of exertion, on the contrary, is one that commonly we do not take to so kindly; it does not, as it were, spontaneously permeate us as the rest habit does; it may in fact require assiduous cultivation, and it takes quite a man to acquire this habit in a completely satisfactory and permanent form so that he is proof against attacks of the rest habit, which, if he has a trace of it left in him, is sure to develop on the slightest provocation."

"Exertion is the only real cure. It may be hard to take at first, but you'll find it vastly strengthening and then delightful; and then, while in taking the rest cure you are all the time paying money out, in taking this one you have money all the time coming in."

"Try work, continuous, steady, hard work. Once got the habit of work embedded in your system and you won't be troubled any more by that tired feeling."

Vanity.

A real friendship with a vain woman lacks comfort and sincerity. Would for a second her vanity and the friendship snaps. Many people wonder at the attraction of women who are undeniably plain, but it often has its root in the fact that they are lacking in vanity. They are not constantly absorbed in their own charms, so have time to admire those of other people, consequently they are seldom lacking in friends.

Vanity is not altogether an attribute of the grown-up. One sees it frequently developed to an alarming extent in young children. Nor is it a matter for amusement. Rather should every mother strive to uproot this tendency. Hildegarde is one of the swiftest ways of extinguishing it.

Children should be taught not to attach importance to whatever physical charms they may possess. Beautiful eyes, a lovely mouth or a delightful nose should not be subjects of comment, but if commented upon at all should be lightly done, for no child should be started in life with the handicap of vanity.—Exchange.

The Ideal and the Real.

Every time you hear a man poetize about his soul's ideal you can make a safe bet that he will marry a reality with freckles and No. 6s.

Double Education.

Every person has two educations; one which he receives from others, and one more important which he gives himself.—Gibben.

READJUSTMENT WILL BEGIN MONDAY NEXT

WORK BY SPECIAL BOARD OF ASSESSORS NAMED BY TAX COMMISSION TO START.

LOCAL MAN ON BOARD

E. D. McGowan Will Act As Member of the Board of Review of the Work Accomplished.

Monday next will see the start of the readjustment of the taxes of the city of Janesville, as ordered by the Wisconsin State Tax Commission. The commission has named the following gentlemen to act as the board of assessors: Joseph E. Dalton of Silver Lake, Kenosha county; H. A. Cowles and W. J. Freeman of Madison. These gentlemen have notified Frank P. Sturt, the county supervisor of assessments, they will be here Monday to begin their work.

The state commission has also named the following board of review, who will sit in judgment on all complaints of taxpayers: E. D. McGowan of this city, C. A. Sikora of Sharon, supervisor of assessments of Walworth county; and P. S. Frueks of Jefferson, supervisor of assessments of this county. The work will be done under the general supervision of F. P. Sturt.

While the readjustment is unfortunate for Janesville as a city, now that it has been ordered everyone is urged to give all the aid possible to the gentlemen named for the work. It will greatly facilitate matters and take away some of the sting of having the city held up before the state and country as it is now.

INAUGURATE DR. GUY P. BENTON PRESIDENT VERMONT UNIVERSITY

Large Numbers of Alumni and Representatives of Hundreds of Colleges Were Present at Ceremonies. Vice President Sherman Attended Burlington, Vt., Oct. 6.—Burlington in all her history never saw such an assemblage of distinguished men and women as was here today to attend the inauguration of Dr. Guy Potter Benton as president of the University of Vermont. One hundred or more of the prominent colleges of the United States and Canada sent their representative scholars to do honor to the man selected to succeed the late President M. H. Buckham and to carry the policies of that distinguished educator to their supreme fulfillment, some of the foremost scientific and learned societies of America sent distinguished delegations; alumni, who have made their mark in business and profession, at colleges, returned once again to bid Godspeed to alma mater on the arduous journey she is about to make under a new guiding hand. Altogether it was a most memorable day in the annals of a historic town and a historic university.

The program for the day began this morning with an address of welcome by Mayor Robert Roberts, followed by the presentation of messages of greeting from the many educational institutions represented. When these formalities were concluded the assemblage listened to brief addresses delivered by a number of the noted educators present. Prof. Norman W. De Witt, of the University of Toronto, spoke for the foreign universities, and President William O. Thompson, of Ohio State University, presented the greetings of the State universities. Among the other prominent speakers were the following: President Arthur T. Hadley of Yale, for the Association of American Universities, W. W. Jordan, for the agricultural and mechanical colleges and experiment stations; Dr. Andrew P. West of Princeton, for the universities of the East; President Edmund J. James of the University of Illinois, for the universities of the West; President John N. Tillman of the University of Arkansas, for the universities of the south; President William A. Shandlin of Wesleyan University, for the universities of New England; President John H. Finley of the College of the City of New York, for the city colleges and universities; President Mary A. Woolley of Mount Holyoke, for the women's colleges; and President L. H. Merrill of Boston University for denominational colleges and universities.

Other speakers were heard in behalf of the United States Bureau of Education, the Carnegie Foundation for the Advancement of Learning, the educational and religious press and the public schools of Vermont. Baker University, Upper Iowa University and Miami University, three of the institutions with which Dr. Benton has been associated in his career as an educator were specially represented.

The inauguration exercises proper took place this afternoon in Strong Theatre, with Hon. John L. Linn, who has been acting president of the university presiding. An academic procession across the campus preceded the exercises. The Bishop of Vermont opened the ceremonies with a prayer. Vice President Sherman delivered an address in behalf of the Nation, and Darwin P. Kingsley of New York spoke for the board of trustees. Other speakers represented the alumni, the faculty and the student body. Governor Mead administered the oath of office, following which the new president delivered his inaugural address.

Dr. Guy Potter Benton, who has become president of the University, which is now in its 120th year, was born in Kenton, Ohio, in 1865. He was educated in the Ohio Northern University, Baker University and the Ohio Wesleyan University and later pursued several studies in Europe. When twenty-five years old he was superintendent of schools in Fort Scott, Kansas, which position he held for five years. Next he became assistant superintendent of public instruction in Kansas. In 1895 he was appointed president of Upper Iowa University, holding that position until 1902. In that year he accepted the presidency of Miami University, where he remained until his recent election of president of the University of Vermont.

George Westinghouse 65 Years Old. Pittsburgh, Pa., Oct. 6.—Geo. Westinghouse, the celebrated inventor of the air-brake and of numerous important electrical devices, received the congratulations of many friends and business associates today on the occasion of his sixty-fifth birthday anniversary. Mr. Westinghouse was born in Scotland county, New York, in 1846, and gave evidence of his genius at the early age of fifteen by inventing a practical rotary engine.

ENTERTAINED BELOIT GUESTS LAST NIGHT

Bower City Lodge, Knights and Ladies, Was Host to Rock Lodge Members From Lino City. State Manager Landis Present.

The regular meeting of Bower City Lodge No. 3177, Knights and Ladies of Honor, was held last evening at East Side Odd Fellows Hall. They had, as their guests, Rock Lodge of Beloit, a large number having journeyed to this city by the Interurban to be present at this meeting, also State Manager Ira A. Landis, of Milwaukee.

The lodge room was prettily decorated with flowers, there being a bouquet of a dozen carnations at each officer's station, and an immense bouquet of gladioli decorated the altar and the piano. These flowers were presented by a friend who could not be present at the meeting and who wished to show to the officers and members his appreciation of the splendid work done by them in building up the lodge and making it one of the leading fraternal organizations of Janesville.

A class of seven were given the third degree and several applications for those to receive the first degree at the next meeting. The initiation ceremonies used by the Knights and Ladies of Honor are surpassed by no other lodge, and they are truly representative of the features of the order.

Mr. Landis, as State Deputy, had the pleasure and honor of presiding at the installation of four officers to their positions, they having been appointed to fill an unexpired term of office. Mr. Landis is a very eloquent and interesting speaker, and received hearty applause for his remarks for the good of the order.

PARIS LIKES WHITE CANARY

New Songbird Is Most Popular in the City Capital and Fetches High Price.

The Parisian has an amiable little weakness for the canary. Every street echoes to the song of this polky bird and in the holiday time, when families are away, there are congeries whose more or less restricted quarters are positively cumbered with cages of canaries left in their charge by absent tenants.

But in or out of the season the bird market is held every Sunday in the year in the City Island and a lively trade in canaries is always done. The best songsters in the market come from an old horse close by the market, where lives an ornithologist who spends his life in teaching canaries to sing, and he has now, after some years of effort, produced a pure white canary with a song as powerful and sweet as any yellow or green bird ever sold.

The supply of the white canary being at present strictly limited, those that were sold last Sunday fetched comparatively high prices; but they had all the honors of the day, and for the few hours that they adorned the stall they were the center of an admiring and wondering crowd. There are plenty of canaries that are nearly white, but this bird is as white as a dove, without any speck of yellow on its plumage.

The Parisian has his own special way of transporting his canaries to the cage that awaits them at his home. The bird is placed in a small paper bag and pinned to the lapel of his coat.

DEAD BROKE. Jack Johnson from his most recent photograph in London and one of the few which shows him without the habitual grin which has characterized him throughout his fighting career.

London, England.—There is more seriousness to the report that Jack Johnson is broke than is generally credited, particularly in the United States. He has been spending his money lavishly and it is not at all surprising that he has at last gotten to a point where he has got to raise money on his automobile, jewelry, and other valuables. Johnson still has a tidy sum, but it is going fast and this, doubtless, had much to do with the willingness with which he approached the bombardier Wells since as it would give him some easy money. At least according to his own idea of the matter.

TODAY'S EVANSVILLE NEWS

"Y" OPEN MEETING IS KEENLY ENJOYED

Large Attendance at Evansville Y. M. C. A. Entertainment Last Evening. J. C. Kline in Address.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE] Evansville, Oct. 6.—A very good entertainment was given by the Y. M. C. A. last evening. There was a large number present who displayed a great deal of interest.

The following program was given: Two selections by the Y. M. C. A. orchestra; music by the Y. M. C. A. quartette of Janesville; speech by J. C. Kline, of Janesville; a selection from the orchestra; two short speeches by President Dr. A. F. Haug and Director Atkinson; closing number by the quartette.

After the rendition of the foregoing program, light refreshments, consisting of apples and candies were served, after which came a very exciting game of basketball, between the high school and Y. M. C. A. teams. The game resulted in a victory for the latter, with a score of 25-21.

A great deal of credit is due Mr. Atkinson and the other members who so ably assisted him in making the evening's entertainment so enjoyable. Evansville people hope to enjoy many more such times together, and, furthermore, at some near time to hold these meetings in a new Y. M. C. A. building. Much thanks is due the Janesville quartette for their many fine vocal selections.

The members of the orchestra are all young boys, and if you did not hear them last night, be sure to go next time as they are well worth hearing. The Y. M. C. A. needs the earnest co-operation of every Evansville citizen, and you or your boy needs their good influence.

UNCLE HIRAM TO HIS NEPHEW

He Hopes the Boy Will "Turn Out to Be Good Judge of Men, When His Turn Comes.

"Steve, my boy," said Uncle Hiram to his hopeful nephew, "I hope it will turn out that you are a good judge of men, for by virtue of that quality a man is able in effect to multiply his own power.

"It is a common thing to hear people say that the more pay a man gets the less work he does, and as to the doing of actual labor this may be true; somebody else sows the seed while he sits by the fire.

"As a matter of fact there are plenty of men high up who still work hard, and all of them certainly worked hard when they were younger, and if they are doing less actual labor now it is because they are good judges of men, able to pick out for the business under their direction just the right men to do the work and carry it forward successfully.

"Really it is in the exercise of this gift that we find the greatest value in a manager; it is just this that makes him worth his high pay. We want him to sit around and take things easy and give himself time to think and keep his head clear. We don't want him to get out and chop down trees; we want him to be able to select men who can do that work to the greatest advantage and with the greatest economy.

"Some of us know men on sight and some don't. I hope, Steve, that you will turn out to be a good judge of men."

New Heat Unit.

The use of gas for heating as well as lighting has made obsolete the old unit the candle power, owing to the fact that this unit rates merely the brightness of the flame, not the heating power.

Devile and more recent experimenters discovered a remarkable proportion between the light and heat of a mantle, and using this, makers are rating burners according to the units of heat given to them per unit of time in standard calories. Gas of 5,200 calories efficiency a cubic meter has been recommended as the standard.

The latest designs of burners for heat and lighting require that the gas have a fairly constant consumption, since the maximum efficiency of the burner is attained only when the relative quantities of air and gas are slowly regulated. Water gas may be added to prevent excessive variation in calorific value.—America.

Shark Hatched in Captivity. For some time a shark's egg in the Glasgow (Scotland) Aquarium has been watched from day to day. It hatched a few days ago, an event unique in many instances. The tiny shark seems quite at home, and is not a bit shy of the numerous visitors who have crowded to see it.

On the square is a policy that has withstood the onslaught of the schemers of all ages, since the time of King Solomon. It was adopted at the dedication of the Temple and while there have been departures from it, no man, if he be honest, can testify that it has paid him. Being ON THE SQUARE with our customers, giving them the best values we can find on the smallest margin we can afford to serve them, is the most profitable policy we can pursue. It will pay us because it will pay you to deal with us.

Our Store is a Store of Quick Sales, Small Profits and Has the Reputation For Square Dealings

It is a combination that simply cannot be beat. We practice what we preach by giving you in this proposition most exceptional values.

LINK AND PIN. NORTHERN PACIFIC CLAIMS AN UNJUST ORDER WAS ISSUED

Protest Against State Railway Commission's Order of Another Train on Grantsburg Branch Which Operated at Loss.

(Special to the Gazette)
Madison, Wis., Oct. 6.—To show that another train on the Grantsburg branch line is needless, the Northern Pacific Railway Co. in a suit filed against the railroad commission of Wisconsin yesterday, declared that on its single train between Grantsburg, Wis., and the western boundary of the state only 827 passengers were carried between stations in 1910, and that 626 trains were run during the year, an average of less than one and one-half passengers per train.

The commission recently ordered an additional train on this branch, acting upon application of A. P. Nelson and other citizens of Grantsburg, who claimed that present traffic arrangements give poor connections between Grantsburg and the Twin Cities. The Northern Pacific company asks for the setting aside of this order and for a temporary injunction.

The branch line connects Grantsburg, Wis., and Rush City, Minn. For ten years one mixed train has been run daily. The company, in its complaint filed in the circuit court here, declares the average revenue from its 827 passengers last year was less than 25 cents each per train, and that an additional train would cost $8,000 per year. The revenue from the branch in 1910 was $16,216.78, the operating expense $19,807.94, and taxes $648.67, leaving a deficit of $1,239.83, according to the complaint. A new train would mean an annual increase of expense of $9,000, it is alleged, and would give little benefit to the public. The company maintains the real purpose of the commission's order is to compel the company to carry passengers between Grantsburg and Rush City, Minn., and intervening points. It calls this an unlawful regulation of and burden upon interstate commerce, and declares the order to be confiscatory and unconstitutional.

Louis Hamitch of Superior, and Emerson Hadley of St. Paul are attorneys for the Northern Pacific.

TRAFFIC IS TIED UP ON C. M. & ST. P.

Small Wreck on Mineral Point Division Causes Some Delay on Train Time.

It seems that the union of ill-luck is still lurking around the trains on the Mineral Point division of the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul railway. During the past month three wrecks have occurred on this division and all of them delayed traffic on that branch considerably. Not only did wrecks interfere with the trains, but a washout also helped to make things very unpleasant.

This morning about ninety-three a freight train met with a mishap and two cars left the track about three miles south of Broadhead. No one was injured but the track was quite badly torn up and on account of that train No. 8, due here at 10:40 this morning, will be unable to get through until things are cleared up and the track repaired. All passengers out of here this morning for Milwaukee were taken to Milton Junction and taken through that way. The wreck was a small one and it is thought that the work of clearing it up will be but a matter of a few hours and that everything will be cleared by tonight. No. 21, leaving here for points on that division, left on time, and if things are not cleared up will transfer passengers, mail and baggage and will return to Jamesville as No. 8, and No. 8 will return to Mineral Point as No. 21.

him." Such is the written request received by Judge Richard Latschew, in a letter addressed to him by three children, and the boy, George, who wrote the letter tells his story as follows:
"Don't you think a fellow ought to die, who goes away and leaves children to make a living for ourselves and our sick mother?"
The father is under arrest for a minor offense and was it within the desire of Judge Latschew he could not commit the father to the gallows. The fact is that the husband and father has been absolutely without heart in the treatment of his family and the frank candor of the children has astonished the community.
The public has taken up the case and will see to it that hereafter the mother and children are given every cure.

HAS WON 5 PENNANTS.—BILL CLYMER.
Wilkes-Barre, Pa.—Winning five pennants and finishing second twice, once losing the pennant in the third game of the season, such is the record of William J. Clymer, known in the baseball world as "Derby Day Bill". This year Clymer's Wilkes-Barre team landed the flag after a hard struggle, repeating the performance of a year ago. Before that Clymer was manager of the Columbus team in the American Association and in that last company he landed three flags. Twice he noted out Milwaukee and once his team was panned out for the pennant by Indianapolis. Clymer's record of five pennants in ten years is a good one, the best in minor league baseball.

SENATOR HEYBURN

SENATOR ISAAC STEPHENSON

Both Delighted.
Two elderly gentlemen, both decently clothed in sober black, were sitting side by side in a Euclid avenue car, says the Cleveland Plain Dealer. Each was reading a morning paper. Suddenly one of the men uttered an exclamation of pleasure and the other peered at him over his glasses.

"I see here," explained the first with a beaming face, "that Mr. B. who died last week, has left his entire fortune to various charitable enterprises. This will be a surprise to his many relatives. It is to me a glad surprise in my case, for I am the pastor of a church to which he has left $10,000."

The second man looked at the article and his face, too, became wreathed in smiles. "God bless him!" he exclaimed heartily. "All to charitable institutions in spite of his relatives! Ah, sir, I like to see money left like that. I do, indeed!"

"Are you also a clergyman?"

"No, sir, I am a lawyer."

YOU MEN WHO WANT
a fall overcoat ought to be interested in the fact that we have several hundred of them here—big quantities mean easy choosing and the certainty of getting exactly what you want. And not the least of the advantages offered by a large stock is the advantage of price—everyone admits that we're the largest buyers and sellers of good clothing in Janesville—that we're able to undersell goes without saying. Imported woollens from Germany, England, Ireland, Scotland and France—lots of them cravenetted, in full and semi-box effects—all lengths, $10 upwards for light weight and $12 upwards for winter weights. Big values at $18 and . . . $20

of hours a day you are seen in a suit and you'll come to the conclusion that it isn't wise to make the old one "do"—you won't make the right kind of an impression without a new one. You'll want something distinctive, too, "in the rut" styles won't do, you can't get them here, because we don't show them. There are fabrics and colors and patterns here that ready-to-wear stores don't usually show, it's custom merchandise without the drawback of custom price—you'll get custom fit, too. Young men who want young clothes—snappy styles, sturdy fabrics, handsome colors and patterns—always come here for them—we specialize along these lines, $10 to $30. A splendid range at $15 to $20.

Extra trousers get a lot of attention here—every kind from the most ordinary working trousers to the finest dress models, $2.00 upwards. Especially fine trousers for men and young men priced at $3.50.

Better qualities, smarter style and a much lower price—that is the great combination that is attracting so much attention to our fall showing of Rehberg's Royal Suits. This exclusive showing embraces all the desired models, fabrics, weaves and patterns—the best part of it is the price, $15. Ask for the Rehberg Royal Suits.

Furnishings

Underwear tops the list, you'll need it soon. Every size, union suits, $1 upwards; shirts and drawers, 50c per garment upwards. Sweater coats, $1.50 upwards—you'll want one for fall comfort. Men's street gloves, stitched back at $1.50; for Saturday, a famous brand at $1. Ask to see the new Vassar Union Suits for men.

There are lasts here for all feet, all the style and comfort you demand, as sturdy leathers as you require. Great values, $3.50, $4.00, $4.50, men's and women's.

Of this, 38,241, 43,261 pieces were distributed through the Rural Delivery which shows that not only the city folks and well read, but that the farmers in and around this city are well read people.

The city carriers distributed 37,741 pieces of second class matter and the balance, 7,800 pieces, were distributed through the General Delivery and Lock Boxes. MANY BODIES WERE FOUND BY WORKMEN

Twenty-Two Bodies Already Removed from Hull of the Maine.

(By United Press.)

Havana, Oct. 6.—While there have been twenty-two bodies of the victims of the Maine taken from the wreck, there will not be all that will be removed, for there are three more now in sight, and they will be taken out as soon as the work has progressed sufficiently to bank on the strength of the cofferdam. There may be more in the petty officers' quarters for it was in this section of the ship that the explosion cut off all means of escape.

Those who have explored this section of the wreck found many gruesome sights, the bones of parts of the skeletons showing that the petty officers were huddled in for some time before death came, and they met their fate, some of them clasped in each other's arms, for the bones of the hands of two of the men are still intertwined. There is absolutely nothing by which the identity of these men can be determined, only a silver watch having been found near the bones of one of the men. This watch is an old-fashioned one, with initials engraved on it, but apparently not at the time of the one who owned it.

There were a few particles of clothing, but none from which identification could be obtained. Identification will not be required for some bodies, because the water level is not being kept very low, the workmen being at present engaged in strengthening the walls of the cofferdam. The water has just been pumped out as low as twenty-one feet, but it is now being held at about fifteen feet or less. The cofferdam of the cofferdam have not sufficient strength to resist the outside pressure when the level is lower than twenty-five feet, and it will be necessary to go down perhaps thirty-five feet or lower to get at the portions of the ship which may assist in determining the cause of the explosion.

The work now is placing braces across the cofferdam so that the walls cannot be forced in. This might have been avoided when the cylinders were constructed and filled, perhaps, with less labor and expense, but as this is the first thing of this kind ever built the engineers had to work the details out by themselves in experimenting and closely watching the result of what they had already done. It was thought would strengthen the cylinders sufficiently, but that was before the order to go to the bottom of the wreck was issued. The after part of the bulk could be floated back into place. Sheets of steel have been placed in the passageway leading to the forward part of the wreck, but as there is to be a large quantity of mud to be pumped out, the engineers do not want to disturb the bed of the bulk now standing.

This being the cyclone season a sharp watch on the weather is being kept. The big barge Barnard is securely moored for an ordinary storm, and so are the other dredges and derrick barges lying about the cofferdam, but what will happen if one of the fierce West Indian hurricanes breaks cannot be guessed.

The bodies of the sailors removed from the wreck are being guarded at Fort Canby. A guard of Cuban soldiers is maintained all the time over the portion of the fort where the remains are kept, and will be until they are removed. When bodies are removed from the wreck a guard meets them at the wharf at Casa Blanca and there is an army ambulance furnished by the Cuban government to convey the remains to the temporary quarters. With the exception of the remains of Lieutenant Merrill, which have been shipped to his relatives in Iowa, all the remains taken from the wreck are still in Havana and will remain here until a battleship, designated by the government, comes for them.

SAVINGS BANK IS VERY SUCCESSFUL

Deposits Came in Quite Rapidly the First Week of the Bank's Existence.

Last Monday ended the first week that the Postal Savings bank in this city has been in operation and from reports received at the postoffice here, things along this line look very promising. The school children have become decidedly interested in the matter of saving and many deposit cards have been handed out not only to students but to the little children and to newboys.

These cards referred to are purchased and have stamps on them for ten cent deposit stamps. When a card is purchased one stamp is given and with each additional ten cents deposited another stamp is placed on the card which is retained by the depositor. When the card is filled, that is when ten stamps have been given, the card is handed in and the person depositing receives a certificate stating that Uncle Sam has in his keeping one dollar of their money. Of course this system is not used by the older people and is merely used to inspire into the young America the idea that "a penny saved is a penny earned."

Among the other depositors amounts have been coming in quite regular. The majority of depositors at the present time are composed of the foreign element, Italians heading the list, followed by Bulgarians, Poles, etc., who are not so quick to trust their hard earned savings in the hands of the local bankers. The word "Uncle Sam" means a whole lot to them and knowing that is an absolutely safe proposition, they readily bank it here in the Postal Savings.

For the week ending Monday there has been a trifle over a thousand dollars deposited and considering that it is an entirely new feature, it is thought that the Postal Savings Bank of Janesville will prove a success in every respect.

Heart to Heart Talks.

By EDWIN A. NYE.

"GOOD QUEEN MARY."
The most talked of woman in the world today is Queen Mary of England.

Heart to Heart Talks.

By EDWIN A. NYE.

"GOOD QUEEN MARY."
The most talked of woman in the world today is Queen Mary of England. Whatever the merits of King George, it is the queen consort who has stirred the imagination of the world and who has caused more feminine bitterness and more feminine admiration than any other woman of modern history.

Queen Mary is hated by a coterie of females who composed the inner circle of the late King Edward's court and who will circle the royal court no more.

Mary is both good and sensible. It was she who early let it be known that no woman need come to the coronation or the royal reception with face painted, eyebrows penciled, lips colored or hair dyed.

Moreover—She won the applause of all right thinking people when she officially discouraged and put under the ban the harp and hobbie skirts and the stupid big hats.

Jealousy and rage broke loose. The smart set that was smitten on by Edward and barred by Mary, the artificial dainties who spent a good part of their time in "makeups," and the ultra fashionably have tried to get even with Queen Mary. And this is their allegation against her: She is—

"Dowdy."

Talks many sturdy Englishwomen, a great walker, she wears on her trips the typical short skirt, made of thick material, and good, stout shoes with low, comfortable heels. And mirabile dictu! Think of it!

She carries an umbrella. Her hat is of the sort that the rain will not hurt. She often dons a simple shirt waist.

What is perhaps the principal offense of this English queen is her children—five stout boys and one girl—whom she has never sent out to nurses and all of whom have been trained in useful occupations.

The painted, penciled, dyed, laced and high heeled exquisites who flatter in Edward's court can never utter a word to these six children.

To them, because the queen is the mother and companion of her children, she is incomprehensible, and because she cares more for home than for dress she is the dowdy queen.

To the rest of the world that is beginning to know her she is "good Queen Mary."

Heart to Heart Talks.

By EDWIN A. NYE.

"GOOD QUEEN MARY."
The most talked of woman in the world today is Queen Mary of England. Whatever the merits of King George, it is the queen consort who has stirred the imagination of the world and who has caused more feminine bitterness and more feminine admiration than any other woman of modern history.

Queen Mary is hated by a coterie of females who composed the inner circle of the late King Edward's court and who will circle the royal court no more.

Mary is both good and sensible. It was she who early let it be known that no woman need come to the coronation or the royal reception with face painted, eyebrows penciled, lips colored or hair dyed.

Moreover—She won the applause of all right thinking people when she officially discouraged and put under the ban the harp and hobbie skirts and the stupid big hats.

Jealousy and rage broke loose. The smart set that was smitten on by Edward and barred by Mary, the artificial dainties who spent a good part of their time in "makeups," and the ultra fashionably have tried to get even with Queen Mary. And this is their allegation against her: She is—

"Dowdy."

Talks many sturdy Englishwomen, a great walker, she wears on her trips the typical short skirt, made of thick material, and good, stout shoes with low, comfortable heels. And mirabile dictu! Think of it!

She carries an umbrella. Her hat is of the sort that the rain will not hurt. She often dons a simple shirt waist.

What is perhaps the principal offense of this English queen is her children—five stout boys and one girl—whom she has never sent out to nurses and all of whom have been trained in useful occupations.

The painted, penciled, dyed, laced and high heeled exquisites who flatter in Edward's court can never utter a word to these six children.

To them, because the queen is the mother and companion of her children, she is incomprehensible, and because she cares more for home than for dress she is the dowdy queen.

To the rest of the world that is beginning to know her she is "good Queen Mary."

Henderson—Do you find fault with your wife's cooking?
Henpeck—Quit your kidding.

Always a Fly in the Ointment.

The two old cronies happened to be taking an automobile ride through the fruit belt.

"Rummage," observed the man with the cropped mustache, "this is a land of plenty. I could be perfectly happy here."

"You wouldn't though, Ruggles," returned the man with the auburn beard. "I'll bet you a dollar that the first man you congratulate on his prosperity will put up a howl about his hard luck."

"You're on."

Ten minutes later they stopped at a farmhouse, ostensibly to get a drink of water.

"You've got the finest yield of grapes in that vineyard," casually remarked Ruggles, "I ever saw in my life."

"Yes," gloomed the fruit raiser; "I've got too much-blamed many grapes this year. I can't get half enough baskets to ship 'em in."

"Rummage, you win," said Ruggles. And they rode on.

Unsure.

"I wish you would look at my machine and see what ails it."

"What do you think ails it?"

"I don't know; all I know is that every time I hit a man the steering gear wobbles."

At a Summer Resort.

"Any old legends connected with this place?"

"Yes, there's a legend that the hotel used to be good once upon a time. That's what brought me here."

FORTY YEARS AGO

From the Janesville Gazette, October 6, 1871.

The Democratic State Convention for New York which assembled at Rochester the 1st inst., compromised with the Tammany delegation. The party which professed so loudly to have entered upon a career of warfare against the corruptionists goes into secret caucus with them and makes an arrangement by which their opponents are to be refused recognition. The Tammany delegation was refused admission to the convention but this was in virtue of negotiation.

J. Rodwell Doe is in attendance at the General Episcopal Convention at Baltimore this week.

The fires in the northern part of the state are reported worse and it is feared that many lives will be lost. It is pleasant to contemplate when passing through the streets these dark nights that we are soon to have additional lamp-posts. It is now nearly a year since the street lamps have been lighted, but it is hoped that when the new posts are erected we will be able to dispense with the use of gas entirely. The lamps will give light by reflection from the countless stars which stud the vaulted arch above, and we shall be happy in the enjoyment of municipal economy.

A. J. Roberts, G. R. Curtis, O. W. Hanks, L. E. Hackley, F. Z. Sherwood and S. Helmstreet & Sons, all our local druggists will close their respective places of business here at eight o'clock every evening.

A new orchestra has been organized under the leadership of Professor Jones, called the Opera House Orchestra.

DEEP MYSTERY OF THE LAW

Man Who Won't Support Family Is Imprisoned and Wife Really Pays Penalty.

Mysterie, far beyond the comprehension of the average mortal, are constantly revealed in the law and its administration. The other day a much-increased woman appeared in a Boston court and complained to the judge that her husband refused to support their two small children. She could get along without him, she said, but she demanded that he be compelled to go to work and help support his offspring. Her story was corroborated by witnesses.

So the judge found the man guilty and sentenced him to one year in the house of correction.

Here was what seems on the surface to be an easy problem. A husband and father, either through disinclination or through inability to find work, is brought into court on a charge of non-support. In order to relieve the situation, he is sent to the house of correction, where he will be kept at work. That he is not able to send his pay envelope home to his family every Saturday night—because there is no pay envelope in such cases—is, in the eye of the law, a minor circumstance. The main thing seems to be that the man has been guilty of an offense and that he is punished for it. He is punished, but it is his wife and his two helpless children who pay the penalty.

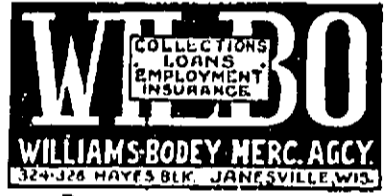

The law may be ironical, but it has no sense of humor. "You have been found guilty of not supporting your children," it says, "and therefore I will send you where you cannot support them."

Man's Capacity Only Limit

By Rev. BARRY B. HALL of Temple Baptist Church, Minneapolis, Minn.

God blesses man at every opportunity and furnishes every real joy he is able to appropriate. We enjoy so little, not because of God's unwillingness to bless, but because of our inability to receive and appropriate his blessings. This old world is big with blessings to him who has the eyes to see them. Thousands stand before the most beautiful landscapes and see nothing but hills and valleys. To the singing of the birds and the beauties of nature they are deaf, and blind, and dumb. A missionary saw African boys playing with diamonds of rarest value. They were rocks and nothing more to the boys.

Before the days of Franklin the air was as full of electricity as now, but our fathers went on burning candles, deprived of the telephone and the telegraph, because none of them had the eyes to see it. All of our modern inventions were as possible to our fathers as they are to us; yet they plowed with oxen and instruments when they could have ridden the cultivator; they rode in ox carts when they could have ridden on the lightning express, only because they had no eyes to see these blessings and to appropriate them. And the world is big with inventions today, involving great fortunes to him who is able to see them, and the business world is big with marvelous opportunities for those who have the eyes to see. Thus it is clear that material blessings are limited only by man's ability to see and appropriate them.

But material blessings are real blessings only to those who have the eyes to see them, right. If they see wealth as an opportunity to serve their fellows through the channels of legitimate business or philanthropy it will bless them; but if they see it through carnal eyes, simply an opportunity for the gratification of the flesh, it will cause them to forget God and brotherliness, and to grow cold and haughty. It will lead them into a mad rush for pleasure, causing them to commit involuntary suicide, burning out the candle of life at both ends. To leave the ordinary young man $50,000 is equal to a through ticket to hell. Wealth is a curse to the carnally-minded. It must be seen through spiritual eyes before it becomes a real blessing.

This is a glorious or horrid old world, according to one's point of view. If his point of view is carnal instead of Christian, he will complete this life in disappointment; but if he views this world with the good and not the evil eye, he will see a grand old world, even its clouds having a silver lining. One's point of view determines whether children are a blessing or a curse. If he has been reared to view them as an evil or misfortune, he will be able to find no pleasure in them; but if he sees them as God-given and a blessing, he can say, as did the woman of old, "these are my jewels." One man says, "Isn't it a shame I have to work for a living?" Another says: "Isn't it a blessing I have a chance to earn a living?" Some say: "Isn't it a shame that people have to get sick?" Others, "Isn't it glorious that sickness is only temporary and good health is the normal state."

A man's point of view determines his happiness. He must view things from the spiritual rather than from the carnal point of view to be satisfied and happy. Thousands are happy with little and others are miserable with much. Jesus explained this by the parable of the rich fool, who thought he had all he needed to make him happy because his barns were filled with plenty. And the fools are not all dead yet; because there are thousands who think that all they need to be happy is a fine home, thoroughly furnished, and lots of money. These poor, unfortunate people have not the ability to see that material possessions never did and never will make anyone contented and happy. He who has not learned to be happy with little would not be happy with much. This world is big with blessings, other than money, if one is only able to see and appropriate them. The only pleasures which really satisfy, that give contentment, peace and happiness, are spiritual; and material blessings are only a curse unless they are spiritually enjoyed. This old world is so big with blessings, material and spiritual, that there is an abundance for all, and all of its blessings are only limited by our ability to see and enjoy them aright.

"Thy Neighbor."

"Thou shalt love thy neighbor as thyself." We are all willing to love our neighbors. But that is just where God tests us. He gives us neighbors whom we naturally would not choose in order to teach us to act upon the real neighbor rule of helping the man next to us, whoever he is. Until we do this, our neighborliness is but a sham, not the Christian kind.—J. R. Miller, Jr. D.

Lovers of Evil.

Now and then there is a man who appears in every community, who does evil because he loves evil. He goes about knowing the community with misunderstandings, undermining men, poisoning men's thoughts, stirring up bitterness and sowing seeds of evil on every side.—Rev. N. D. THEATERS

THE $10,000 SECOND ACT OPENING CHORUS, "HALLOWE'EN," THE TALK OF THE COUNTRY IN "THE GIRL I LOVE," AT THE MYERS THEATRE, WEDNESDAY, OCTOBER 18.

Harry C. Lyons, of "The Girl I Love" company soon to be seen at the Myers Theatre, Wednesday, Oct. 18, has a story which he tells whenever he hears an actor complaining of his lot. His first engagement was in a musical comedy in which he had to do the work of half a dozen men. He appeared in six different character "bits" demanding complete changes of costume, and in nine choruses disguised as well. His characters were a burglar, a farmer, a tough, a half-dressed man, an old man, and an eccentric youth with a queer walk. Thus he had to make fifteen changes of costume at every performance. His salary was $15.00—a dollar for every change.

"Busy Izzy," the new musical, song-farce, jocular entertainment conceived for the special purpose of presenting George Sidney to his friend, the American public, will be a two-act potpourri of a little of everything that theatre-goers like. The first act will be devoted to a department store with "Izzy" making himself generally useful as the proprietor. A number of pretty girls in swell clothes will be found and every now and then they will let their customers wait while they come from behind the counters and sing something. Then when they have all done everything which the stage manager has arranged to be done in the department store half of the evening, the curtain will fall and in ten minutes will shift to a big summer hotel. The audience will learn from the program that "Izzy" has traded his store for the hotel and the stage manager will have arranged a number of outings for the summer girls, the Johnnies and the other guests. In all this Izzy is mainly just the presiding officer, and one of us aware of the passage of time two and a half hours have been spent in laughing, listening and admiring. Truly not an idle way to spend an evening, still just the kind of an entertainment that theatre-goers seem to enjoy, and it's a business to furnish what the public want. Tablet to First President. Washington, D. C., Oct. 5.—In the picturesque village of Falls Church, Va., nine miles from this city, a marble tablet placed upon the outer wall of the Old Falls Church edifice in honor of George Washington, was unveiled today with exercises conducted by the town chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution. Gen. Washington served for twenty years as warden and vestryman of the church, which is one of the oldest and most historic in this section of the country. The first church building is believed to have been erected about 1700, while the present edifice was built in 1724 with material brought from England.

STATE CONVENTION OF BAPTISTS ENDED ON THURSDAY NIGHT

One of the Most Successful and Interesting Gatherings Came to A Close With Session Last Night.

One of the best Baptist conventions ever held in this state came to a close last evening with the final session. Throughout the entire week the interesting character of the meetings and the program have attracted a large number of people to the sessions and the good will of those in the audience was but a reflection of the spirit shown by the leaders and speakers.

All of the sessions were well attended and very few of the large number of delegates present left until the final meeting brought the convention to a close. The audience passed the five hundred mark, while the banquets, receptions, and other gatherings outside of the regular sessions attracted many people.

Despite the fact that a larger number of delegates came than were expected, they were all entertained in the homes of people in the city and almost none, if any, sought the hotels. The home of comfort of the visitors were taken care of at every minute by the hosts and Jansville has established a reputation as a model of hospitality.

Interesting speakers were chosen throughout the program and every thing pertaining to the convention was conducted by men who have had years of experience in planning and conducting them.

In the absence of Dr. Stackhouse, Rev. Alsworth, of Milwaukee, was called upon and gave a very interesting and inspiring address. He spoke of the importance of this convention, and what it had accomplished.

After the opening exercises which consisted of the singing of hymns and a selection by the artist Sunday School orchestra, a few minutes were devoted to an open discussion on "What the Convention Has Meant to Me," before the speech of the evening. This meeting closed the convention for this year and a large number of the delegates present took the night train for their homes when possible and the remaining number left this morning.

LIGHTNING STRUCK A SHARON RESIDENT

Dwelle Gile Had Narrow Escape From Death Tuesday—Other Sharon News.

[Special to the Gazette.]

Sharon, Oct. 5.—Dwelle Gile had a narrow escape last Tuesday afternoon when he came near losing his life as a result of a stroke of lightning. He was on his way home from his day's labor when he was overtaken by a heavy rain, and sought shelter under a large tree along the roadside. He had not stood there long when a bolt of lightning struck the tree, knocking him down and rendering him unconscious for a while. Fortunately, two Sharon citizens were passing, saw the man lying in the ditch, and began to investigate. They removed him to the home of his brother, Ray, and Dr. Fred Leeson was summoned.

Convenience, Durability and Efficiency

These are the points you should investigate carefully when you buy a range.

Now let us go over the Grand Acorn on that basis.

Convenience

The Glass Oven Door enables one to see into the oven and watch the progress of the baking or the roast and saves the necessity of opening the door, chilling the oven and perhaps spoiling the baking.

The Oven is unusually large and is perfectly square. The lift front key-plate exposes the whole surface of the fire for broiling, roasting or feeding the fire. The reservoir is unusually large, (capacity eight gallons), is porcelain lined and easily cleaned. Castings are smooth and easy to keep clean and the nickel is loose—lifts off in an instant.

Durability

Every Acorn Range is made of the best grades of new iron. Not an ounce of scrap iron enters into their construction. There are thousands of Acorns in use today that have seen daily service for thirty or forty years.

The Acorn Hot Blast Firebox is perfectly ventilated and is guaranteed against warping or burning out. The whole range is made of heavy cast plate—no steel to rust out or burn out. Acorns last a lifetime.

Efficiency

The Hot Blast Firebox saves one-third of the fuel by burning the gas and smoke that the ordinary range wastes. The flues and firebox are perfectly proportioned and with the Acorn Controller, Damper insure perfect, even baking.

"Gad," Lord Galorey said, "she is a stunner! What a figure, and what a head, and what darning to dress like that!"

"She knows how to make herself conspicuous," said the Duchess of Breakwater.

"She looks extremely ill," said Lady Galorey. "The price she goes will do her up in a year or two."

Dan Blair had his back to her, and when they rose to leave he was the last to pass out. Letty Lane saw him, and a light broke over her pallid face. She nodded and smiled and shook her hand in a pretty little salute. If her face was pale, her lips were red, and her smile was like sunlight; and at her recognition a wave of friendly fellowship swept over the young man—a sort of loyal kinship to her which he hadn't felt for any other women there, and which he could not have explained. In warm approval of the actress' distinction, he said softly to himself: "That's all right—she makes the rest of them look like thirty cents."

CHAPTER VI.

Galorey Seeks Advice.

Blair did not go back at once to Osdene Park. He stopped over in London for a few days to see Joshua Ruggles, and so remarked for the first time the difference between the speech of the old and the new world. Mr. Ruggles spoke broadly, with complete disregard of the frills and adornments of the King's English. He spoke United States of the pure, broad, western brand, and it rang out, it vibrated and swelled and rolled, and he Ruggles didn't care who heard him, nothing of what he had to say was lost.

Old Mr. Blair had left behind him a comrade, and as far as advice could go the old man knew that his Dan would not be bankrupt.

"Advice," Dan Blair senior once said to his boy, "is the kind of thing we want some fellow to give us when we ain't going to do the thing we ought to do, or are a little ashamed of something we have done. It's an awful good way to get cured of asking advice just to do what the fellow tells you to do once."

During Ruggles' stay in London the young fellow looked to it that Ruggles saw the sights, and the two did the principal features of the big town, to the rich enjoyment of the Westerner. Dan took his friend every night to the play, and on the fourth evening Ruggles said: "Let's go to the circus or a vaudeville. Dan, I have learned this show by heart!" They had been over every night to see "Maudslayi."

"Oh, you go on where you like, Josh," the boy answered. "I'm going to see how he looks from the pit."

Ruggles was not a Blairtown man. He had come from farther west, and had never heard anything of Sarah Towney or Letty Lane. He applauded the actress vigorously at the Gaiety at first, and after the third night slept through most of the performance. When he waked up he tried to discover what attraction Letty Lane had for Dan. For the young man never left Ruggles' side, never went behind the scenes, though he seemed absorbed, as a man usually is absorbed for one reason only.

In response to a telegram from Osdene Park, Dan motored out there one afternoon, and during his absence Ruggles was surprised at his hotel by a call.

"My dear Mr. Ruggles," Lord Galorey said, for he it was the page boy fetched up, "why don't you come out to see us? All friends of old Mr. Blair's are welcome at Osdene."

Ruggles thanked Galorey and said he was not a visiting man, that he only had a short time in London, and was going to Ireland to look up "his family tree."

"There are one hundred acres of green in Osdene," laughed Galorey; "you can climb them all." And Ruggles replied:

"I guess I wouldn't find any O'Shaughnessy Ruggles at the top of any of 'em, my lord. The boy has come out to see you all today."

Galorey nodded. "That is just why I toddled in to see you!"

Ruggles called had been shown to the sitting room, where he and Dan had smoked and smoked during the Westerner's visit. There was a pile of papers on the table, in one corner a typewriter covered by a black cloth. Galorey took a chair and, refusing a cigarette, lit his pipe.

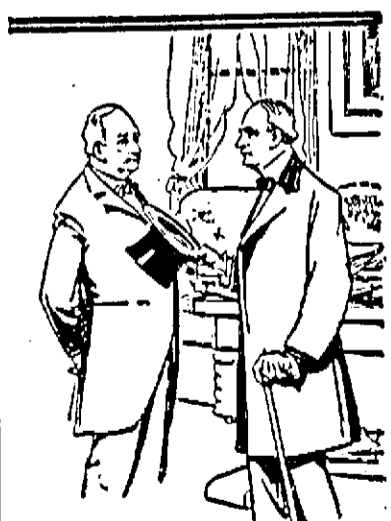

"I didn't have the pleasure of meeting you in the West when I was out there with Blair. I know Dan's father rather well."

Ruggles responded: "I knew him rather well, too, for thirty years. If he went on, Blair hadn't known you pretty well he wouldn't have sent the boy out to you as he has done. He was keen on every trail. I might say that he had been over every one of 'em like a bound before he set the boy loose."

Galorey answered, "Quite so," gravely. "I know it. I know it when Dan turned up at Osdene." Holding his pipe bowl in the palm of his slender hand, he smoked meditatively. He hadn't thought about things, as he had been doing lately, for many years. His sense of honor was the strongest thing in Gordon Galorey, the only thing in him, perhaps, that had been left unmarred by the touch of the world. He was unquestionably a gentleman.

"Blair, however," he said, "wasn't as keen on this as you'd expect. His intuition was wrong."

Ruggles raised his eyebrows slightly. "I mean to say," Lord Galorey went on, "that he know me in the West when I had cut loose for a few blessed months from just those things into which he has sent his boy—from

"That is Just Why I Toddled In to See You."

what, if I had a son, God knows I'd throw him as far as I could."

"Blair wanted Dan to see the world."

"Of course, that is right enough. We all have to see it, I fancy, but this boy isn't ready to look at it."

"He is twenty-two," Ruggles returned. "When I was his age I was supporting four people."

Galorey went on: "Osdene Park at present isn't the window for Blair's boy to see life through, and that is what I have come up to London to talk to you about, Mr. Ruggles. I should like to have you take him away."

"What's Dan been up to down there?"

"Nothing as yet, but he is in the pocket of a woman—he is in a nest of women."

Ruggles' broad face had not altered its expression of quiet expectation. "There's a lot of 'em down there," he asked.

"There are two," Galorey said briefly, "and one of them is my wife."

Ruggles turned his cigarette between his great fingers. He was a slow thinker. He had none of old Blair's keenness, but he had other qualities. Galorey saw that he had not been quite understood, and he waited and then said:

"Lady Galorey is like the rest of modern wives, and I am like a lot of modern husbands. We each go our own way. My way is a worthless one, (God knows I don't stand up for it, but it is not my wife's way in any sense of the word.)"

"Does she want Dan to go along on her road?" Ruggles asked. "And how far?"

"We are financially strapped just now," said Galorey calmly, "and she has got money from the boy." He didn't remove his pipe from his mouth, still holding it between his teeth he put his hand in his pocket, took out his wallet, drew forth four checks and laid them down before Ruggles. "It is quite a sum," Galorey noted, "sufficient to do a lot to Osdene Park in the way of needed repairs." Ruggles had never seen a smile such as curved his companion's lips. "But Osdene Park will have to be repaired by money from some other source."

Ruggles wondered how the husband had got hold of the checks, but he didn't ask and he did not look at the papers.

"When Dan came to the Park," said Galorey, "I stopped bridge playing, but this more than takes its place!"

Ruggles' big hand went slowly toward the checks; he touched them with his fingers and said: "Is Dan in love with your wife?"

And Lord Galorey laughed and said: "Lord no, my dear man, not even that! It is pure good nature on his part—mere prodigality. Blithely appeared to him, that's all."

Rellor crossed Ruggles' face. He understood in a flash the worldly appeal to the rich young man and he loved the story the husband told him.

"Have you spoken to the boy?"

"My dear chap, I have spoken to him about nothing. I preferred to come to you."

"You said," Ruggles continued; "there were two ladies down to your place."

Galorey had refilled his pipe and held it as before in the palm of his hand. "I can look after the affairs of my wife, and this shouldn't happen again. I promise you—not at Osdene, but I'm afraid I can not do much in the other case. The Duchess of Breakwater has been at Osdene for nearly three weeks, and Dan is in love with her."

"She is Aiming at Ten Million Pounds."

Ruggles put the four checks one on top of the other.

"Is the lady a widow?"

"Unfortunately, yes."

"So that's the most Dan has got into at Osdene," the Westerner said. And Galorey answered: "That is the next."

"And he has gone out there today—got a wire this morning."

"The duchess has been in an awful funk," said Galorey, "because Dan's been stopping in London so long. She sent him a message, and as soon as Dan wired back that he was coming to the Park, I decided to come here and see you."

Ruggles ruminated: "Has the duchess complications financially?"

"Rather," the other answered.

And Ruggles turned his broad, honest face full on Galorey: "Do you think she could be bought off?"

Galorey took his pipe out of his mouth.

"It depends on how far Dan has gone on with her. To be frank with you, Mr. Ruggles, it is a case of emotion on the part of the woman. She is really in love with Dan, Gad!" exclaimed the nobleman. "I have been on the point of turning the whole brood out of doors these last days. It was like imprisoning a mountain breeze in a chancel house—a woman with her scars and her experience and that boy—I don't know where you've kept him or how you kept him as he is, but he is as clear as water. I have talked to him and I know."

Nothing in Ruggles' expression had changed until now. His eyes glowed. "Dan's all right," he said softly. "Don't you worry! He's all right; I guess his father know what he was doing, and I'll bet the whole thing was just what he sent him over here for! Old Dan Blair wasn't worth a copper when the boy was born, and yet he had ideas about everything and he seemed to know more in that old gray head of his than a whole library of books. Dan's all right."

"My dear man," said the nobleman, "that is just where you Americans are wrong. You comfort yourself with your eternal 'Dan's all right,' and you won't see the truth. You won't breathe the word 'scandal,' and yet you are thick enough in them, God knows. You won't admit them, but they are there. Now be honest and look at the truth; will you? You are a man of common sense. Dan Blair is not all right. He is in an infernally dangerous position. The Duchess of Breakwater will marry him. It is what she has wanted to do for years, but she has not found a man rich enough, and she will marry this boy offhand."

"Well," said the Westerner slowly. "If he loves her—and if he marries her—"

"Marries her!" exclaimed the nobleman. "There you are again! Do you think marriage makes it any better? Why, if she went off to the Continent with him for six weeks and then set him free, that would be preferable to marrying her. My dear man," he said, leaning over the table where Ruggles sat, "if I had a boy I would rather have him marry Letty Lane of the Gaiety. Now you know what I mean."

Ruggles' face, which had hardened, relaxed.

Little Bed-Time Tales By EDITH HAVENS

The Wise Cricket

ONCE upon a time there lived a large family of little black crickets. There were hundreds of thousands of them and they were known among all living things as being very selfish. Year in and year out they spent their time gathering food for their own use during the long cold winter, but never were they known to do a kind act for one of their number or for any living creature.

How the birds, the fur-bearing animals and the other insects pitied them. "The crickets were not enjoying life a bit," they said, and this was very true. They did not know the wonderful feeling which comes with helping someone else.

Now one day a tiny black cricket was born to this large family—a cunning little fellow about the size of your little fingernail.

He didn't appear any different from the other crickets at first, but as he began to grow up, all the other crickets began to realize that a leader had come among them—a very wise leader, who was much more able and wonderful than they were.

Time went on and the newcomer grew to be a big chap—very nearly the size of a twenty-five-cent piece. For days gather about him as he had something by every living thing.

very important to say.

From far and near they came. They came in twos, in tens, in hundreds and in groups of thousands, and for miles around the green hills and fields were black with them.

And then they all became very quiet and the wise cricket began to speak. "My dear people," he began, "do you ever stop to think how very selfish you are—how you are living your whole life simply for your own good? You do not know what joy is and you never will know until you forget yourself for the sake of someone else."

The crickets listened, very much ashamed.

"You never knew that you could sing, did you?" he continued. "Well, you can, and I want you to all sing this little song after me." Then he sang very softly: "Go to sleep, little boy; go to sleep, little girl; go to sleep, little boy; go to sleep, little girl."

All the crickets joined in the chorus with a will, and they marveled at the great cricket family became very much excited, for the wise cricket had suddenly announced that he wanted every member of the land at bedtime, and that he would sit thinking and planning while his other companions would just sit and look at him and wonder.

One evening just at twilight time the joy it gave them.

Every summer night since that time the wise cricket had and they have sung that song to the little great cricket family became very much excited, for the wise cricket had suddenly announced that he wanted every member of the land at bedtime, and that he would sit thinking and planning while his other companions would just sit and look at him and wonder.

Will be Held in the Various Cities of State Nov. 11—Janesville Affected in This Test—Other Examinations.

Madison, Wis., Oct. 6.—The state civil service commission today issued notice of a general competitive examination for state positions, to be held in various cities on Saturday, Nov. 11. In many ways the most important of these is for assessors of income, a new position under the state tax commission. The examination is for men and forty appointments will probably be made. Another new position for which tests will be given is that of city sealer of weights and measures, each city of more than 5,000 people except Milwaukee being required to employ one.

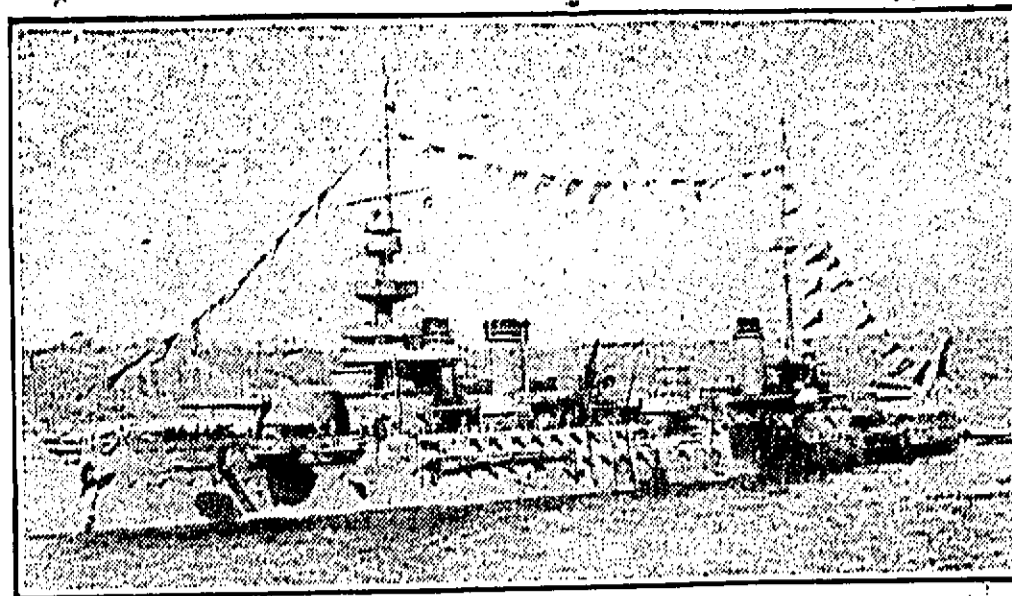

Other positions will be given for the following positions: Assistant chemist, dairy and food commission, one position, for men only, salary $1,200 and traveling expenses; cheese factory, dairy and food inspector, dairy and food commission, men only, compensation $3 a day and traveling expenses with chance of promotion; guard, Wisconsin prison and Green Bay reformatory, salaries from $50 to $85 per month; janitor, state university, salaries $15 to $65 per month, previous experience not required; statistical clerk, for both men and women, salary $50 to $100 per month, technical training in financial statistics necessary; woman factory inspector, Wisconsin Industrial commission, salary $900 per year and traveling expenses.

Hospital Attendants. Attendants at the state hospitals for the insane and feeble minded are also sought, with salaries of from $20 to $40 per month and maintenance. No written examination is required. These positions have been made unusually desirable by the addition of training schools in nursing, free of charge.

During the week following Nov. 11 examinations will be held for stenographers, with average salaries from $60 to $75 per month.

A "hurry-up" examination has been ordered for the position of accountant under the state railroad commission. It will be held on October 21.

Cadetship Tests. Preliminary competitive examinations for cadetship at West Point and Annapolis will be held on Dec. 2 at the county seats. Nine appointments are to be made for Annapolis and two for West Point. Senators La Follette and Stephenson and Congressmen Loomis, Keady, Davidson, Nelson, Koney and Berger have each asked the civil service commission to hold examinations and have agreed to appoint the young man who shall stand highest. These tests will be held for the Second, Third, Fourth, Fifth, Eighth, Ninth and Eleventh districts. There are no vacancies at present in the other districts.
